DREAM COMES TRUE FOR FORMER YEOVIL COLLEGE STUDENT

After three years of planning, including a feasibility study and discussions with local schools and parents, former Yeovil College student, Katherine Farthing has at long last realised her dream and opened her own day nursery. The nursery was officially opened by Michael Eavis, founder of the Glastonbury Festival.

Katherine, a mother of three young children and a farmer's wife, came to Yeovil

College in September 2007 when she enrolled on the Level 2 Children's Care, Learning & Development (CCLD) course. She enrolled on to the course because she wanted to gain a better understanding of the Early Years sector before opening a Nursery. After successfully completing the course in July 2008,

Katherine then progressed on to the Level 3 completing in July 2009.

Katherine said, "There has been such a lot to do, but so worthwhile. I have had so much help and support along the way – it really has been a team effort."

Based on the family farm in Lovington, the day nursery offers fully integrated day care for children aged three months to five years old. The design of the building incorporates energy and water efficient technologies

A Quality Service ...

Yeovil College has recently been re-assessed and approved for the national Matrix Standard for a high quality Information, Advice & Guidance (IAG) Service. This crucial standard helps to check and maintain the high levels of information and support given to all students throughout the information and enrolment process and has been held by the College since 2004. Assessors noted improvements made to the College website, publications and professional staff in the Customer Liaison & Enrolment Team who are able to give support and advice on college courses and programmes.

The College is always looking at new ways of improving the services offered and in January 2010 will be launching an exciting new service of on-line applications for full-time courses and a 'live chat' facility to help answer queries and questions on-line for part-time courses. Visit our website www.yeovil.ac.uk for more details!
